Great Improvement in Dentistry.

The subscriber has recently returned from Europe, and has brought with him considerable improvements in the art of dentistry, which he can confidently recommend to the public as being superior to any thing ever before introduced in this country, and which will be found to combine beauty, strength and durability with ease and comfort to the wearer. He would more particularly call attention to his method of inserting artificial teeth without the use of wires, which he has found to be much more durable, and which will be found to be much more comfortable to the wearer than any other method now in use. He also has a new and improved method of filling decayed teeth, which he guarantees to be superior to any thing ever before introduced in this country.

THE S'TANDARD.

"At fifty millions, all vert non puducam dicere"—Cicero.

THURSDAY, NOVEMBER 6th 1862

CAMP CATECHISM.

What is an Alcalde?—An Alcalde is a sort of Ishmaelite (spelt) who is appointed by the Juez de Paz to serve summonses, collect Patio and agua benditas, settle rural disputes, keep half a dozen old rusty muskets in his rancho, a few wife soldiers &c.

What is a Teniente?—A Teniente is a sort of Bobadeer (spelt) whom Lieutenant is to rule about the camp, suck mate at every house, talk politics in the pulperias, take a quiet cup of tea or coffee, with a tiny biscuit or two, at the gringo's house each his barra and help a gringo about from hut to house, in a sort of erratic Judicial excursion, with mouth and hand open and eyes and ears shut.

What is a Juez de Paz?—A Juez de Paz is a sort of Patriarchal gaucho, who resides generally in one of the little towns convenient to his store, whose principal interest is to sell mate to the natives, tea and sugar to the gringos and cards and sugar to the soldiers.

Has the Juez any exclusive right, and what?—Yes, he has a ex-officio compulsor, with all the rich concussions in the parishes; post master of the town, sole fabricator in all the law suits, and cock of the walk in the village.

What is the Juzgado?—A room set apart in each town for talking politics and concocting, where unconvened litigants some times arrive to be seen Saturday, in mute attention, to the judgment of the court, before the case has yet been heard.

We shall continue this Camp Catechism at our leasures, as at present we have no more space. In the above definitions there are no doubt, a few exceptions but, on the whole, the answers are by no means overdrawn.

The judiciary administration in the camp is of a primeval character, & demands immediate reform. Men who act as judges and butlers should be paid a fixed salary, and made do their duty. We deprecate the false economy of the Government in this respect. We want proper judges, and bailiffs and it is absurd to expect we can get good efficient men without paying them a good salary.

WOOL REVIEW.

The news from Europe, by the last packet, respecting wool, could not be more favourable; yet the markets here have not risen. From Antwerp, we learn that 2,500 bales had been sold, at an advance of 2½ to 3½ centimes over last June's prices. In Havre, the greatest animation existed in the wool market, from the beginning of the month of September, the majority of the purchases being made on account of the Spinners in the States, and coarse wools consequently, more in request than fine. Since the sailing of the packet, 2,000 bales were sold 1 prices very firm, and with a decided upward tendency. Fine wools, a few days before the leaving of the Saintonge, took a turn up; the prices on all classes of wool may be estimated as 15 to 30 ℔ over July prices for ordinary, and two per cent for fine. The stock on hand of River Plate woods was estimated at 5800 bales. In Marseilles, ordinary wools were selling at an advance of 10 per cent over last month's prices, and in demand. In Liverpool, great speculation existed in all classes of wools, and prices have risen 2 pence per pound for English, and 4 pence per pound on common foreign wools.

The English manufacturers, who formerly owned cotton was wool, now use wool solely, it being cheaper than cotton. The English colonial wool auction sales of the 6th September went off with great animation, and at an advance of three half pence per pound over the previous week's prices. In New York, woods of every description were in great demand, and the great market of paper money, allowed manufacturers to take a larger stock than what they actually required for use.

The wool market of Buenos Ayres, without being overstocked with new wools, without being embarrassed with a tight money market, seems, as we were, elapsing these last few days. It would appear that buyers are afraid that the European market prices won't be sustained for any length of time, and that consequently the risk of buying at high figures is extreme.

Some very good new wool found with the greatest difficulty a trifling advance over last year's prices. This is extraordinary for the wool itself is intrinsically better, but worth ten per cent more than last year, without taking into account as all the advance in the home markets.

We have no doubt, however, that when the woods begin to come in a little faster from the camp, buyers will become more liberal.

It is with the greatest difficulty we give quotations now, as with our country friends to have a correct idea of the status of the market. We give, however, the following prices, which will serve as a guide:

Best merinos—well known	140
Very good ditto	90 to 100
Ordinary	55 to 85
Common	45 to 50

As yet, however, no superior lots have come in. One very good is in the plaza at present from the Capilla. It is as yet unsold but we have no doubt will fetch from between 105 to 110.

WINDMILLS FOR THE MILLION

(By M. Emile Witz, C. E.)

It has been our good fortune to see lately a new system of wind mills invented by the eminent engineer Mr. Witz, who is so well known for his combat with the Tellham about the Cabildo clock. As we take a lively interest in everything which affects the progress of this country, we congratulate Mr. Witz on the happy idea which he has so ably carried out. His motive power is so simple that, even at first sight, one can perceive the manifold advantages it possesses over all others.

The machine is iron throughout and, completely adapted to turn with any wind, the wings or sails being guided only by the dynamic force which opens and closes them according to the wind. The most violent gale has no other effect than to indicate the course which they must take. Ricardo the great objection to windmills has been the irregularity of their motion, as in a weather but Mr Witz, to save the difficulty, has made his apparatus so delicate and sensible that the gentlest breeze will set it in motion.

However the machinery is so very simple that the rudest peon of Estancia can put up or dismount it; and several pieces will be given with the mill to replace any that might be broken, or lost during the time. These mills being applicable to all kinds of machinery, to Wills, pumps &c., we recommend them to estancieros as a useful protection against the desolations of drought. The price for Mr. Witz's mills is considerable that it is within the means of all to provide one or more of the new invented mills.

Mr. Witz's laboratory is at 36 Palcharuano.
